SEATTLE GIRL A PRESS AGENT

Writes to the Daily Republican, Telling About the "World's Greatest Exposition."

SHOWS TRUE WESTERN SPIRIT

School Children of Seattle Write to School Children of Rushville—Answers Are Returned.

Minnie Cowling, a Seattle, Wash., school girl, shows the true western spirit. She has joined in the publicity movement to boom her home city and has taken up the work with a vengeance.

Seattle is going to have a great world's fair, the Alaska-Yukon-Pacific exposition, this summer and Seattle people, from babes-in-arms to infirm grandfathers, want everybody in the world to know it.

Miss Cowling, with whom the Daily Republican, unfortunately, is not acquainted, has written the following to this paper concerning the exposition:

Dear Editor:

We have been asked by the Publicity Department of the A. Y. P. Exposition to tell you and others about our city and our exposition.

Has it ever occurred to you that since the year 1880 the population of Seattle has increased from three thousand to 270,000.

Seattle has many fine public schools and five high schools and the sixth is being built now. It has a large university. The buildings and grounds cover two hundred and fifty acres.

The First Presbyterian church is one of the largest and most beautiful churches in our State. Seattle has many other beautiful churches.

The largest business building in Seattle is the Alaska building which is large and beautiful. Seattle has many fine hotels and business buildings.

We should like you to visit Seattle and A. Y. P. Exposition.

It will have forty-five large buildings; the names of some are: Manufacturing building, forestry building, which is made of huge logs, mining building, agriculture building and others. Uncle Sam will spend $600,000 on the fair. Other States have buildings at the fair.

The fair has the prettiest background of any fair. Three mountain ranges can be seen in the distance. Mt. Rainier can be seen distinctly from the fair grounds.

I will close hoping you will accept this invitation.

Respectfully yours,
MINNIE COWLING.

Prof. Scholl said today that quite a large number of the pupils in the sixth and seventh grades have received letters from pupils in the Seattle schools, inviting them to attend the exposition. The pupils here will answer the letters.

When it is understood that the school children of Seattle are probably writing dozens of letters to every school in the country, one can get some idea of the gigantic task they have undertaken. It is a novel plan of advertising, and both cheap and effective.

LAST HANGING IN NEW JERSEY.

New Brunswick, N. J., March 23.—The last hanging in the State of New Jersey was consummated today when Frederick Lang was swung from the gallows for the murder of Katie Gordon in Piscatawaytown. The gallows has been abolished in New Jersey by law, death by electricity taking its place, but Lang was sentenced before this law went into effect.

A FRANCHISE IN BLUE SKY

Donald Sparks Earnestly at Work on Wireless Telegraph Instrument.

Donald Sparks, the ingenious son of Dr. F. M. Sparks, is about the busiest little soul you ever saw, earnestly working on a wireless telegraph, which he hopes to perfect in a short time. He has his workshop at home literally covered with a network of wires and the place is strewn with discarded batteries that he has picked up about town. He will probably electrocute a neighbor's cat before he perfects his apparatus and "shock" them. His first message that he flashes across on the air waves should read "Sparks from Sparks."

SALVATION ARMY LASSIE WAS BUSY

A Local Girl Chewed Five Hundred Sticks of Gum to Carry on a Tedious Job.

MADE ARTIFICIAL FLOWERS

Just to glance at the beautiful decorations in Tom Lytle's drug store, which were prepared especially for "Sweet Pea" day one would hardly dream of the many tedious hours spent in getting everything in shape. For instance, there were thousands of sweet pea blossoms made of different colored tissue paper. All of these were arranged in such a manner so as to carry out a color scheme of decoration. You could never guess, in a hundred years who made and arranged them in such a fashion! A local Salvation Army lassie. And the wonder of it all, they were stuck together, every blessed one of them, with chewing gum. The girl that made them chewed over five hundred sticks of gum, which, in turn, she used to stick the small parts together.

Polly of the Circus

The Best Serial Story We Have Ever Published—one that will interest everybody—and is published in advance of any other publication, starts in the Daily Republican Tomorrow.

Here is a circus romance redolent of the fresh sawdust of the ring, vibrant with the incessant clamor of the band, panoramic in its ever moving display of clowns, acrobats, horses and captive wild animals. You will read of Polly, the daughter of the circus, and of Bingo, on whose broad back she rode; of the "leap of death" girl; of "Muvver Jim," the boss canvasman, and Toby, the clown, who hated a circus, and of Rev. John Douglas, who grew to love a circus girl. You will read of gossip that threatened to divide a pastor and his flock, of Ruth and Naomi, of a show girl's renunciation and of Polly's first and last ride on Barbarian, the circus horse.

Chicago has started a vigorous crusade to compel physicians to report contagious diseases.

THE WEATHER

Fair tonight and probably Wednesday. Rising temperature.

NOW THINK THAT BUNDY SUICIDED

Farmer and Ex-County Official Was Found Dead in His Barnyard Last Week.

Empty Vial Was Also Found at the Barn—Coroner is Now Making an Investigation.

Last Wednesday the body of John Bundy was found in his barnlot on his farm near Kennard. It was generally accepted at the time that Mr. Bundy died of heart failure, but later developments point toward suicide. Mr. Bundy had often visited in Rushville and was an uncle of Mrs. Earl Churchill. Mr. and Mrs. Lon Havens and Earl Churchill attended the funeral.

Of the circumstances surrounding Mr. Bundy's death the New Castle Courier says:

"The question uppermost in the mind of Coroner Hiatt is 'Did John M. Bundy, ex-county auditor, commit suicide?' The appearance of the body, its position and the scenes in the barn at the home, near Kennard, when the shocking discovery by Mrs. Bundy, indicated death from natural causes. However, in view of certain developments there is strong evidence that the former county official took poison and then calmly and complacently awaited the end.

"One of the strongest features indicating suicide was the finding of two notes purporting to have been written by the deceased a short time before his death. One was found in the hay mow on Friday afternoon, just after the funeral. In it the statement was made that the writer cared to live no longer as life held no charm for him. It probably was inspired by the fact that the deceased had been in poor health for some time and believed himself to be incurable. The other note was found in the pocket of the coat worn by Mr. Bundy at the time. It was brief and stated where insurance policies and other valuable papers might be found.

"Although the authorship of the notes has not been determined by Coroner Hiatt, the fact that the valuable papers were found where indicated in the notes would tend to show conclusively that Mr. Bundy had made final preparations, omitting not even the slightest or minutest detail.

"Another fact indicating suicide was a vial bearing a poison label, but failing to state what the bottle contained. It was also found in the mow. Whatever it was, was purchased in the Faulkner drug store in Kennard, but Mr. Faulkner and his clerk both denied having sold poison to Mr. Bundy.

"The two notes and the bottle and a small portion of the contents were delivered to Coroner Hiatt Saturday. His investigation will be thorough in every respect. His verdict, however, cannot be returned for some days, at any rate not until the investigation is concluded.

"A peculiar circumstance in connection with the death, whether due to natural causes or to a desire to end it all, is the fact that one insurance policy was due to expire on Friday, March 19. It will be recalled that his body was found in the barn about 12:30 o'clock on Wednesday, March 17.

"There is not the slightest indication that there was any motive for the suicide, should it prove to be such, other than that the deceased had been failing rapidly. His condition was known to his immediate family and upon numerous occasions he had deplored his physical condition, and declared that he could not long survive."

AN EXPLANATION BY POISON KING

"Suicide Charley" Wolf Explains the Reason For His Actions—Why he Would Die.

SAYS HE WAS PERSECUTED

Police Have Mistreated Him Declares Wolf, Who is a Victim of Epilepsy.

Charles Wolf, the Poison King of Indiana and Ohio, who claims Indianapolis as his voting place, says the Richmond Palladium, but who usually spends most of his time between Richmond, Dayton, Connersville and Rushville, when seen at the jail Saturday, stated that he had no desire to commit suicide except when spells of melancholia, brought about by an approaching attack of epilepsy, overcame him. He says that he has been unjustly treated by the officers of this city and alleges further that his present incarceration is due to a trumped up charge on the part of the officials. He was sent to jail six days ago, upon being found guilty of public intoxication.

Wolf seems to be an outcast from his family as well as from society. He has a brother in this city, but he stated he and his brother could not agree. He has two brothers at Connersville who are in jail pending trial on serious charges. He seems to feel more sympathy for these two brothers than for any other of his relatives, except his children.

His wife and three children live at Indianapolis. He does not live with them and contributes but little toward their support, according to the gist of his conversation. In speaking of his wife, he says, "She has a good job working in a restaurant. Yes, I see my wife and children once in a while, perhaps once every three or four weeks when I am on the road, and oftener when I am staying at Indianapolis." He spoke in very endearing tones about his children.

Before Wolf finished his story his body quivered, his teeth chattered and his demeanor became such that the reporter was warned to desist for fear that he might have an attack. He answered the questions at first very freely, but toward the last had to be repeatedly quizzed for answers.

According to his story, ten years ago while working at his trade as a painter in Columbus, Ind., a scaffolding fell on his head and he never fully recovered from this injury. He declares that physicians say the attacks of epileptic fits which he suffers are due to this injury. These attacks overcome him so at stated intervals, but, he says he can tell when they are coming. He usually does nothing to prevent them, but sometimes drinks. The attacks make him feel so despondent that he wants to end his life. He denies purchasing poison every time he feels one of these spells approaching. His statements regarding the number of times he has attempted suicide do not coincide with the statements of the police. So far as known Wolf has tried to take his life in this city on four different occasions. Wolf states that on three of these occasions, he was suffering from epilepsy instead of from poison. He cannot understand why the authorities did not discover the cause of his suffering.

Wolf does not deny that he has tried to take his life on two occasions. One of these was in this city last summer when found at Ninth and North A street, suffering from strychnine, and the other at Dayton later, when he took carbolic acid. He claims to have been in the Dayton hospital for thirteen weeks recovering from that attempt.

He claims that everyone has a pick at him and that he is harrassed and hounded by the police, who seem to take every opportunity which presents itself to arrest him and cart him to the hospital, alleging that he has taken poison. He states that he was not drunk on Monday or Tuesday when arrested, and that the charge and conviction was trumped up. "Oh nothing can be done about it, the officers are down on me I guess."

HOW THEY DID IT IN RUSH COUNTY

Former Resident Surprised to Read of Dry's Victory Here in the California Papers.

HELD AS A MODEL CAMPAIGN

Surely the fame of Rushville has been scattered broadcast within the past few weeks by reason of the unusually large majority received here by the dries and the unique methods employed during the campaign. Charles Dale, a former resident of this city, who is now located at San Diego, California, writes that a county option campaign is being waged there, and that he was surprised to read several articles in the local newspapers telling "how they did it in Rush county, Indiana."

FAYETTE COUNTY HAS GAME RESERVE

Comprising More Than Five Thousand and in the Eastern Part of the County.

STOCKED WITH PARTRIDGES

Nearly every county in this part of the State has a game preserve except Rush county. The Connersville Examiner says of a new one established there:

"E. E. Moore received from Z. T. Sweeney, State fish and game warden, on Saturday, a consignment of ten pairs of Hungarian partridges to stock a new game reserve in the eastern part of the county. The reserve consists of over five thousand acres, a large number of farmers throwing their lands together in a continuous tract to form it."

OVERSTREET WILL LEAVE CHARLESTON

Presbyterian Minister Who Married Rushville Girl, Has Accepted Call to El Paso, Texas.

A MOST IMPORTANT CHARGE

Rev. Charles Leslie Overstreet, whom it will be remembered married Miss Dorothy Cole of this city, has resigned his pastorate of the First Presbyterian church at Charleston, Illinois, where he has been for five years. Rev. Overstreet has accepted a call to El Paso, Texas, the most important charge in the great Southwest.

KEPT A RECORD FOR MANY YEARS

Charles Hall, a Local Fruit Expert, Says Fruit Crop Will be a Bountiful One.

PAGES FROM AN OLD DIARY

Contain Interesting Statistics—An Authority of National Fame Was in Rushville Today.

About this time of the year, local prophets and sages begin to save and destroy the fruit crop. Every imaginable ill and bad prospect is pointed out by the pessimist and all the good things are promptly noted by the optimists. But little matter what they say, the fruit crop is generally a bountiful one.

Charles M. C. Hall, a local fruit tree expert, who has kept a record of the progress of the fruit trees, from the time they blossom until the harvest, for over thirty-five years, declares that the prospects for this season are good. Everything points to a bountiful crop, despite the unfavorable and queer weather pranks of the past two months. Four years ago yesterday, he says, the trees in Rush county were found in full bloom. This was the earliest time for tree blooms noted in his thirty-five year diary. The crop was good that year, although it was predicted the blossoms and blooms would perish in the late frosts. The following year the same trees did not bloom until the sixth of May. The average time for the bloom to appear in Rush county is April 21st.

John P. Brown, possibly the leading authority on arboriculture in the United States, was here today looking after matters pertaining to his magazine on that work, which is printed in the Republican office, bi-monthly, says that it is difficult to make a correct or infallible prophecy at this time. He says he read yesterday where the peach growers were quoted as saying the entire peach crop was destroyed this year. He added that he has read that every spring, as long as he can remember, still the peach crop was nearly always found crowding the market at the proper time.

BIG DAMAGE SUIT WAS POSTPONED

Case of James A. Thompson in Fayette Circuit Court Continued Until Next Term.

ON ACCOUNT OF TRIBBEY TRIAL

The case of James A. Thompson of Rushville, says the Connersville Examiner, against the Rushville cemetery association, an action for $5000 damages for injuries received in a fall when a bridge in the cemetery broke, and which was set for trial here last Friday, was continued until the next term, being crowded out of its place by the Tribbey case, which occupied more time than was expected.

CATARH CURED

No Cure, no Pay, is a Most Generous Offer.

To get an antiseptic strong enough to kill catarrh germs and not destroy the tissues of the membrane at the same time, has been a problem which was never solved until the discovery of Hyomei (pronounced High-o-me.)

Hyomei is prepared from eucalyptus, the most powerful yet healing antiseptic known. Breathe it through the inhaler over the inflamed and germ-ridden membrane four or five times a day, and in a few days the germs will disappear.

The inflamed condition will go, too, and the snuffing, hawking and offensive breath, and the discharge of mucus and crusts in the nose will cease.

Then why should any catarrh sufferer hesitate, when F. B. Johnson & Co. has such faith in Hyomei that he offers to return your money if after a fair trial Hyomei does not cure catarrh.

A complete Hyomei outfit including the inhaler, costs $1.00, and extra bottles, if afterwards needed, cost but 50 cents. Hyomei also cures asthma, croup, sore throat, coughs, colds or grip.

MI-ONA Cures Dyspepsia.

INDIANA POLITICS

ROBERT G. TUCKER.

Indianapolis, March 23.—Members of the Ministers' association, who are clamoring for a chance to vote Indianapolis and Marion county dry, have been advised by Superintendent Shumaker, state superintendent of the Anti-Saloon League, to put on the soft pedal and work quietly for the time being. Shumaker, who addressed the ministers, and R. C. Minton, attorney for the league, counseled the temperance host here to be patient. Shumaker and Minton indicated that they are afraid to tackle Indianapolis until more sentiment is created and other counties are made dry. When Indianapolis is left as the only "booze oasis" in the central part of the state, word will be given to spike the guns of the liquor traffic here. Shumaker and Minton denied that they have any definite plans now for an election in this county. The "liberal" element breathed easier when it was learned that the Anti-Saloon League is not in favor of an immediate election. An armistice suits them. During the next few weeks they will do everything in their power to strengthen themselves for a contest which seems inevitable.

The report of the Indiana state legislative board of the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen was mailed to members of the order today by Fred L. Feick, chairman. The board has completed a "red book" containing the record of its work during the recent session and a blacklist of legislators unfriendly to organized labor. Feick's statements are just the opposite of those of Edgar A. Perkins, president of the State Federation of Labor, who is denouncing the Democratic party because more labor legislation was not enacted, and predicting that Democracy never again will be supported by union men. That no other general assembly ever showed more friendship to organized labor is Feick's statement. "We could not have been better treated," he said.

Charles W. Miller of Goshen, who has been appointed to succeed Joseph B. Kealing as United States district attorney for Indiana, has been prominent in state politics for many years. He is a native of Floyd county and is forty-six years old. He served two terms as mayor of Goshen and two terms as attorney general of Indiana. He was defeated for the nomination for governor last year. Afterward he was nominated and defeated for congress in the Thirteenth district.

"THE LAW ON TRIAL"

Famous Prosecutor to Give New Yorkers His Views on Vital Question.

New York, March 23.—Clear across the continent for the sake of expressing to the people of New York views on "The Law on Trial" was the trip made by District Attorney Francis J. Heney of San Francisco, the famous graft hunter, who was badly wounded by a criminal a few months ago.

Mr. Heney will speak to the Civic forum in Carnegie hall tonight. He will be introduced to the audience by former Attorney General Bonaparte.

A Roman Trunk Mystery.

Rome, March 23.—The body of a Russian, Vladimir Tarasoff by name, was found in a trunk in a boarding house in the center of the city. The body had been locked in the trunk, it is believed, for twenty-three days. A medical examination indicated that the man, who was about thirty years of age, had been given a narcotic and placed in the trunk, dying of suffocation. There is no trace of the murderers, who are thought to have been two Russians who visited him shortly before his disappearance.

FLORIDA BEACH AUTO RACES BEGIN TODAY

Famous Drivers Entered In Great Speed Carnival.

Daytona, Fla., March 23.—With the firing of the pistol starting the Florida stock car price class race this morning the seventh annual international automobile races on Daytona beach began. The opening race will be followed by twenty-one events, contested on four days, the last event of the speed carnival being a bicycle race on Friday.

It is expected that all sorts of automobile, motor cycle, aeroplane and bicycle records will be broken during the four day tournament. Some of the best automobile drivers of the world are here, and their ranks are re-enforced by motor cyclists and bicyclists of international reputation. The aero planists are not so well known, but keen interest is expressed in their contest.

Among the events on the program are the Minneapolis trophy race, the two-mile-a-minute speed crown race, the one mile record race for the Sir Thomas Dewar $2,000 trophy, the international free for all race, the Vanderbilt cup competitors' race, the motor cycle 100 mile Marathon and the aeroplane speed trials for the cash prizes offered by President Bishop of the Aero Club of America. Of especial interest is the invitation match automobile race, in which George Robertson, Lewis Strang, Herbert Lytle, Ralph de Palma and other noted drivers are entered.

Daytona and the other towns along and near the famous sand course are crowded with visitors from all parts of the United States. A record breaking attendance for the races is assured.

Another Chicagoan Remembered.

Washington, March 23.—The president has announced that he will appoint Lloyd Bowers to be solicitor general, vice Henry Hoyt, resigned. Mr. Bowers is general counsel of the Chicago & Northwestern railroad, with headquarters at Chicago. He is a Yale man.

Will Plead Insanity.

Jackson, Miss., March 23.—The trial of W. A. Sorsby, charged with having murdered Postoffice Inspector Charles Fitzgerald at Clinton, Miss., several months ago, is in progress. The plea will likely be emotional insanity.

GONDOLA SHOE.

Freaky Sample of Footgear That Has an Invisible Fastening.

Fashion adopts strange freaks in the search for novelties. One of the newest ventures into the realm of the bizarre is the gondola shoe. It is about the freakiest footgear the United States has seen. That it ever will become popular in America is out of the question. American women go to great lengths now and then, but it's certain they won't give up their heels, and that's what the wearer of the gondola shoe must do, for the sole of the shoe is flat as the proverbial pancake, flatter than a flatiron, flatter than flattery from an unwelcome flatterer. A woman who has seen the novelty says:

"I do not think many women, even in Paris, will wear the new shoe long. It is unlike anything that we have had of late. Women will not forego the fascination of the heel. It is an old fashioned shoe, but is embroidered heavily with many colors. The shoe is for afternoon wear and matches the gown and the rest of the toilet. It may be made of satin, silk, suede or any material similar to the dress. The toe is very, very long and pointed, and the shoe must fit like a glove. The fastening is invisible. It leaves one guessing where it is, being hidden by the mass of colored embroideries. Only the owner of a very pretty foot ought to venture forth in the gondola shoe, as it makes an ordinary foot look enormous."

ECZEMA LODGES IN THE SKIN.

Not a Blood Disease—Cured by Oil of Wintergreen Compound.

For many years eczema was supposed to be a blood disease and was erroneously treated as such, but now the best authorities agree that eczema is only a skin disease and must be cured through the skin. The eminent skin specialist, Dr. D. D. Dennis, first discovered the eczema germ and his discovery was quickly taken up in both Germany and France.

To kill the eczema germ and at the same time heal the skin, Dr. Dennis compounded oil of wintergreen, thymol, glycerine, etc. The remedy is a liquid, not a mere salve, hence it sinks right into the pores of the skin. Washing with this oil of wintergreen compound seems to take the itch away at once; soon the scales drop away and the disease disappears.

Lytle's Drug Store. The prescription has now been used so long as to have proven its absolute merit and we do not hesitate to express our confidence in D. D. D. Soap.

Rheumatism promptly driven from the blood with Dr. Shoop's Rheumatic Remedy. Rub-on's never did cure Rheumatism. The blood must be reached—and Dr. Shoop's Remedy is made expressly for the blood. Test it and see! Sold by F. B. Johnson & Co.

A GOOD THING FOR MINERS

Terre Haute Wants a Life Saving Station.

INDORSED BY GOVERNMENT

Equipment For Relief of Miners in Cases of Emergency Recently Exhibited at the University of Illinois Under Government Auspices Has Attracted the Favorable Attention of Indiana State Mine Inspector, Who Will Seek Establishment of Station at Terre Haute.

Terre Haute, Ind., March 23.—The Indiana Coal operators' association will help State Mine Inspector Epperson have Terre Haute made a station for the relief appliances which the government has indorsed and which have been tested recently at the University of Illinois and at Pittsburg. President Van Horn of the Indiana United Mine Workers, says: "It is a good thing, and will be of benefit to the miners." Mayor Lyons has promised his assistance, and it is likely he will make a trip to the University of Illinois to inspect the equipment. The city will be asked to do its part in a financial way in establishing a station.

THE CASE OF "CIG" BAKER

What to Do With Alleged Bribe Money the Question.

Indianapolis, March 23.—Prosecutor Hooton said today that he would await the return of Oscar A. (Cigarette) Baker to Indiana before deciding what shall be done with an indictment pending against Baker in the Marion county criminal court. The indictment was returned by the grand jury in 1905, and is in two counts, charging him with offering a bribe and paying a bribe to Ananias Baker, then a member of the Indiana house of representatives. The bribe money is now in the custody of the prosecutor and Judge Pritchard, who has it on deposit with one of the trust companies. What shall be done with this money is one of the problems which is yet to be worked out. It is believed probable that because of the death of Ananias Baker, the main prosecuting witness, the indictment against Oscar A. Baker will be not prosessed. However, Prosecutor Hooton says he would rather take no action of any kind until "Cigarette" Baker returns, if he does return.

Faces Disbarment Proceedings.

Marion, Ind., March 23.—The committee of nine named from the Grant County Bar association to investigate charges against William J. Houck, lawyer and politician, relative to Houck's having procured a false affidavit in an effort to obtain a new trial for a client, has reported, finding charges sufficient to institute disbarment proceedings, and the case has been docketed in due form.

The Wicks Trial This Week.

Marion, Ind., March 23.—The trial of Frank, alias "Funny" Brown, the colored boy charged with the murder of Mrs. Rosa Ricks, white, in this city, Jan. 10, is set for hearing tomorrow in the Grant circuit court. Over eighty witnesses have been served with notice to attend court in this case, and the trial promises to last for some time.

They Couldn't Agree.

Noblesville, Ind., March 23.—After being out twenty-four hours the jury in the case against the Rev. John T. Roberts, charged with criminal libel, reported that it could not agree and was discharged. Six were for conviction and six for acquittal. Not a single juror changed his vote at any time, although forty-six ballots were taken.

Expert Makes His Report.

Franklin, Ind., March 23.—A public accountant who investigated the office of the Franklin township trustee has filed his final report. The report finds that during the term of Homer Anderson as trustee fraudulent warrants to the amount of $6,334.23 were issued. The investigation was made by direction of the advisory board.

Young Man Badly Burned.

Lafayette, Ind., March 23.—Oscar Armstrong, a young man of Mulberry, fifteen miles east of here, was badly burned at Smith's hotel, in that village, and probably will die. He was fully dressed when discovered and evidently had fallen asleep while smoking a cigar, which in falling set fire to the bedclothing.

Aged Woman Burned to Death.

South Bend, Ind., March 23.—Mrs. Elizabeth Hollowell, seventy-eight years old, was burned to death at her home in this city. She lived alone, and it is not known whether her dress caught from a stove or grate or she put a lighted pipe in her pocket.

Woman Dies in Bathtub.

Lafayette, Ind., March 23.—Mrs. Sarah E. Cockrell, sixty-eight years old, a wealthy widow, was found dead in the bathtub at her home, 1007 Brown street. She is thought to have drowned.

COMMISSIONERS IN JOINT SESSION

From Hancock and Rush County to Consider Petition For Improvement of Highway.

CONSIDERATION IS DISMISSED

The commissioners of Hancock and Rush counties met in joint session in the auditor's office today to consider the petition of Levi Gurley et al., for the improvement of a highway on the county line between Hancock and Rush. A number of the petitioners withdrew their names, so that there was not a sufficient number left. It was also proven that several of the petitioners were not free-holders and their names were also taken off. After all had been withdrawn, it was found that there were not enough names left on the petition as required by law. The consideration of the petition was dismissed. The law firm of Sexton & McCollin represented the remonstrators.

Will Our Fight Against Corruption Lessen?

By Ex-Governor JOSEPH W. FOLK of Missouri.

HERE has been a great awakening on the subject of individual responsibility for the affairs of city, state and nation within the last few years. WILL THE MOVEMENT TOWARD HIGHER IDEALS GO ON? Will not the people soon forget? Have not the people already forgotten, and will not things be allowed to go on in the same old way as they were before the awakening of the people? These questions are being asked all over the country today.

REFORMS SOMETIMES DIE, BUT REVOLUTIONS NEVER GO BACKWARD, AND A REVOLUTION HAS BEEN WROUGHT IN THE CONSCIENCES OF MEN. THIS AWAKENING IS MERELY A DETERMINATION TO HAVE THE GOVERNMENT OF CITY, STATE AND NATION REPRESENT THE PUBLIC INTERESTS AND NOT SPECIAL PRIVILEGE.

In the battle against privilege some fights must be lost. With each fight lost we should not lose heart, but BATTLE ALL THE HARDER. With each victory we should not become apathetic and think ALL has been won. If the issue could be presented squarely between public rights and special privilege everywhere there would be no doubt as to the outcome, for the majority of the people here and everywhere will do right when they know right.

ONE OF THE OBSTACLES TO THE PROGRESS OF RIGHTNESS EVERYWHERE IS THE MISTAKEN VIEW THAT IT INJURES A CITY OR STATE TO PROSECUTE WRONGDOING.

I have heard men deplore the exposure of public corruption because it hurts a city. I have heard men object to prosecuting trusts and monopolies in order to make them obey the law because it hurts business.

Such views are entirely false. NO CITY CAN BE INJURED BY THE ENFORCEMENT OF THE PEOPLE'S LAWS. To do otherwise is to substitute the will of the official for the laws of the people, and that is tyranny. No state can be hurt by exposing grafting. To do otherwise is to connive at it. There is no secret remedy known for evils of this character. They CANNOT BE CURED BY HIDING THEM. The disgrace is not in their correction, but in SUBMISSION TO THEM with supine indifference.

IT IS WELL FOR A STATE TO DISPLAY ITS VIRTUES AND NOT TO PARADE ITS FAULTS, BUT IT SHOULD NOT BE FORGOTTEN THAT THE HIGHEST CIVIC VIRTUE IS THE OVERTHROW OF DEPRAVITY.

For Woman's Eye.

An item of some of the new three-piece suits is a pocket of the same material on a chain of the cloth.

Corsage bouquets of artificial flowers, perfumed by tiny sachets, are one of the novelties.

With the light gowns and suits pocketbooks and card cases of white kid are excellent.

What Our Neighbors Are Talking About

SOME CHERRY TREE.

(New Albany Ledger.)

The largest cherry tree in the world stands in the orchard on the farm of Alva G. Gray, five miles east of Pekin. The trunk of the tree measures seven feet in diameter and one limb measures thirteen feet in circumference. It is ninety feet from tip to tip. In summer it gives splendid shade and 3000 people could be comfortably sheltered under its branches. The tree was planted by the mother of Mr. Gray and is one of the Black German variety propagated from stock brought from Germany and the fruit is jet black with fine flavor, though small. Several years ago a 400 pound chain was placed around the tree at its first fork to prevent it from splitting under its enormous weight and as a protection against damage on account of wind storms.

Bryan's Jet Black Stove Polish.

Is the best stove polish on the market. This is not our own verdict, alone, but that of a constantly increasing number of users who really constitute the "court of last appeal" in the matter of the utility of any article. Bryan's Jet Black is easy to apply, shines with least polishing, gives a lasting jet black lustre which make the stove a "thing of beauty." This polish is not only clean, smokeless, dustless and odorless, but it lengthens the life of any stove. Manufactured in both liquid and paste form. For sale wherever stove polishes are sold. 304112

Spring Costumes

One of the most interesting developments of the Spring is the shifted position of trimmings says Mrs. Simeox in the April Delineator. Never before has the arrangement been so arbitrary, the location so surprising. Formerly, there were certain well-defined conventions that were adhered to religiously even by those who rather pride themselves on our originality and resources. The retrograde movement began last fall when some one decided to use chiffon over lace, white under colors, and several other reversals of the established order.

Net blouses are mounted on hinges of broderie anglais so exquisitely fine that every leaf and flower cries out against the indignity put upon it. Silver tissue is veiled by coarse tulle, and cloth-of-gold travels incognito thinly disguised by muslins or chiffons. But even more eccentric are the localities chosen for braidwork and embroidery. Quite frequently now one finds a great triangular patch of soutache in the lower corner of a front or back gore. Princess panels, which formerly received a great amount of attention at the hands of the dressmaker, are now ignored, and the trimming goes under the arms and down the side seams.

The long close sleeves are braided—not at the wrist, as one might expect, but halfway between the elbow and the shoulder. And, most illogical of all, the new coats, whose very length and shape and cut are a protest against the Eton jacket, are elaborately braided and corded across the front and back in a shameless imitation of the old-time bolera. Totally irrelevant patches of lattice-work braid form the front of a skirt and the back of a waist and break out again in other equally unexpected places.

TEDDY HEADED FOR THE WILDS

Left Today For the Jungles in Quest of Big Game and Also Recreation.

GREAT CROWD SEES HIM OFF

Everything Fine and Bully—Route Roosevelt Will go Over and His Itinerary.

New York, March 23.—Ex-president Roosevelt, the date of whose departure for South Africa was at first given out as March 13, by a North German Lloyd steamer, sailed today by the Hamburg-American liner Hamburg and will reach Naples on the 5th of April. From that port he will continue his trip on the steamship Admiral for Mombaza or to Kilgading. He is accompanied by the Smithsonian representatives and Kermit, but not by Mrs. Roosevelt, who, with the children, will sail later. Mrs. Roosevelt and her daughter accompanied the Ex-President as far as Naples and spend the intervals between the arrival of the Konig Albert and the departure of the Admiral quietly in Sicily, at Taormina. The outfit, which has been purchased here, will be shipped on the liner Admiral at Hamburg.

The ex-President has taken out two ordinary game licenses, for which he will pay $250 each, one for himself and one for his son, Kermit. This will be sufficient to carry the expedition through the East African protectorate. The President has refused all offers of special facilities from the English Colonial office, but said that in the event of his not being able to get some of the rarer specimens of animals, while he was out he would like permission to get them from the government game preserve.

No detailed itinerary has been decided upon, but the general route will be up the Uganda Railway to Nairobi and Lake Victoria Nyanza, a distance of about six hundred and fifty miles by rail, thence crossing into Uganda and finally passing down the Nile to Cairo. Much of the hunting will be done in British East Africa, where the Uganda Railroad can be used as a base of supplies and means of ready transportation. At least one great mountain, possibly Mount Kenya, will be visited.

Khartoum will be reached, if all goes well, about April, 1910. The expedition may be expected to spend about one year on African soil.

BY THE WAYSIDE

It is always difficult to guess what twenty-five years will bring when we look around at the many marvelous changes and improvements of the past two score and three years. In a funeral procession in Rushville this week was seen the odd sight of a large automobile creeping along, filled with mourners and friends of the deceased.

Most of us have our happy hours and times when joy rules our moods but unfortunately we too have our sour moments, and sad to relate they upset the balance and make up the most part of our lives. One can find a sermon without words by coming in contact with a young man in Rushville, who though he is crippled and permanently disabled, radiates sunshine all the time and is ever found in good humor. The young man is time and is ever

Earl Conoway, who smiles on those who call him by the name he is familiarly known by "Crip," and which means so much when one appreciates what it stands for in his case. "Crip" is a faithful attendant at the Social bowling alleys where he officiates as score keeper. No better manipulator of the chalk is found than "Crip" and complex scores are made and kept accurately. Conoway is a regular passenger on the midnight car to Oliver street. He is a brother of Ben Conoway, the expert pin setter.

Great preparations are being made for the calico party that will be given in the Social Club house Wednesday evening. All of the ladies will be attired in simple dresses made of calico and the men in many instances will wear cravats made of the same material as that used in their wife's or sweetheart's dress. It is said that the men are experiencing great difficulty in selecting the goods, that which suits their taste is not to the liking of the woman in the question, and that which meets the approval of the stylish dressed lady is not at all in keeping with the modest men.

The Tenderfoot Farmer

It was one of these experimental farmers, who put green spectacles on his cow and fed her shavings. His theory was that it didn't matter what the cow ate so long as she was fed. The questions of digestion and nourishment had not entered into his calculations.

It's only a "tenderfoot" farmer that would try such an experiment with a cow. But many a farmer feeds himself regardless of digestion and nutrition. He might almost as well eat shavings for all the good he gets out of his food. The result is that the stomach grows "weak," the action of the organs of digestion and nutrition are impaired and the man suffers the miseries of dyspepsia and the agonies of nervousness.

To strengthen the stomach, restore the activity of the organs of digestion and nutrition and brace up the nerves, use Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It is an unfailing remedy, and has the confidence of physicians as well as the praise of thousands healed by its use.

In the strictest sense "Golden Medical Discovery" is a temperance medicine. It contains neither intoxicants nor narcotics, and is as free from alcohol as from opium, cocaine and other dangerous drugs. All ingredients printed on its outside wrapper.

Don't let a dealer delude you for his own profit. There is no medicine for stomach, liver and blood "just as good" as "Golden Medical Discovery."

CHAPTER XIX.

THE CALL OF THE OREDS.

THERE were mingled rejoicing and lamentation in the household of John Gale this afternoon. Molly and Johnny were in the throes of an overwhelming sorrow the noise of which might be heard from the barracks to the Indian village. They were sipping of tears, as a rule, but when they did give way to woe they published it abroad, yelling with utter abandon, their black eyes puckered up, their mouths distended into squares, from which came such a measure of sound as to rack the ears and burden the air heavily with sadness. Poleon was going away—their own particular Poleon! They had found the French Canadian at the river with their father loading his canoe, and they had asked him whether he feared. When the meaning of his words struck home they looked at each other in dismay; then, bred as they were to mask emotion, they joined hands and trudged silently back up the bank with filling eyes and chins quivering until they gained the rear of the house. Here they sat down all forlorn and began to weep bitterly and in an ascending crescendo.

"What's the matter with you tikes, anyhow?" inquired the lieutenant. He had always filled them with a speechless awe. He was a nice man, they had both agreed long ago, and very splendid to the eye, but he was nothing like Poleon, who was one of them, only somewhat bigger.

"Come, now! Tell me all about it," the soldier insisted. "Has something happened to the three legged puppy?"

Molly denied the occurrence of any such catastrophe.

"Then you've lost the little shiny rifle that shoots with air?" But Johnny dispelled this horrible suspicion by drawing the formidable weapon out of the grass behind him.

"Well, there isn't anything else bad enough to cause all this outlay of anguish. Can't I help you out?"

"Poleon's goin' away!" said Johnny. "Now, that's too bad, of course," the young man assented. "But think what nice things he'll bring you when he comes back."

"He ain't comin' back!" wailed the little girl and, being a woman, yielded again to her weakness, unashamed.

Burrell tried to extract a more detailed explanation, but this was as far as their knowledge ran. So he sought out the Canadian and found him with Gale in the store, a scanty pile of food and ammunition on the counter between them.

"Poleon," said he, "you're not going away?"

"Yes," said Doret. "I'm takin' it!"

"Oh, but you can't," cried Burrell. "I-I-I—" He paused awkwardly, while down the breeze came the lament of the two little Gales. "Well, I feel just as you do," he motioned in the direction of the sound. "I wanted you postulating with some one at the water's edge, and then a child's treble rose on high.

"No, no! I'm goin', too. I'm goin', too-o-o!"

"Hey! John Gale!" called Poleon. "Come 'ere! Ba gosh, you better hurry too! I can't hol' dis feller long!"

When they appeared on the bank above him, he continued, "Look 'ere w'at I fin' on my batteau," and held up the wriggling form of Johnny Gale. "He's stow hisse'f away onder dem blanket. Sacre! He's bad feller, dis man—don't pay for bees ticket at all; he's reg'lar toff mug!"

It took the efforts of Necia and the trader combined to tear the lad from the Frenchman, and even then the foul deed was accomplished only at the cost of such wild acclaim and evidence of undying sorrow that little Molly came hurrying from the house, her round face stained and tearful, her mouth an inverted crescent. She had gone to the lame puppy for comfort and now strangled him absentmindedly in her arms, clutching him to her breast so tightly that his tongue lolled out and his three legs protruded stiffly, pawing an aimless pantomime. When Johnny found that no hope remained he quelled his demonstrations of emotion and, as befitted a stout hearted gentleman of the woods, bore a final present to his friend. He took his little air gun and gave it into Poleon's hands against that black night when the bears would come, and no man ever made a greater sacrifice. Doret picked him up by the elbows and kissed him again and again, then set him down gently, at which Molly scrambled forward and without word or presentation speech gave him her heart's first treasure. She held out the three legged puppy, for a gun and a dog should ever go together; then, being of the womankind aforesaid, she began to cry as she kissed her pet goodby on its cold, wet nose.

"W'at's dis?" said Poleon, and his voice quavered, for these childish fingers tore at his heartstrings terribly.

"He's a very brave doggie," said the little girl. "He will scare de bears away!" And then she became dissolved in tears at the anguish her offering cost her.

The time had come for the last goodbye—that awkward moment when human hearts are full and spoken words are empty. Burrell gripped the Frenchman's hand. He was grateful, but he did not know.

"Good luck and better hunting," he said, "a heavy purse and a light heart for you always, Poleon. I have learned to love you."

"I want you to be good husban', m'sieu'. Dat's de bes' t'ing I can wish for you."

Gale spoke to him in patois, and all he said was:

"May you not forget, my son."

They did not look into each other's eyes. There was no need. The old man stooped and, taking both his children by the hand, walked slowly toward the house.

"Dis tam' I'll fin' it for sure," smiled Poleon, to Necia.

Her eyes were shining through the tears, and she whispered fervently: "I hope so, brother. God love you—always."

It was grief at losing a playmate, a dear and well beloved companion. He knew it well, and he was glad now that he had never said a word of love to her. It added to his pain, but it lightened hers, and that had ever been his wish. He gazed on her for a long moment, taking in that blessed image which would ever live with him.

"Goodby, I'll gal," he said, then dropped her hand and entered his canoe. With one great stroke he drove it out and into the flood, then headed away toward the mists and colors of the distant hills, where the oreds were calling to him. He turned for one last look and flung his paddle

Weak Women

To weak and ailing women, there is at least one way to help. But with that way, two treatments, must be combined. One is local, one is constitutional, but both are important, both essential. Dr. Shoop's Restorative is the Local.

Dr. Shoop's Restorative, the Constitutional. The former—Dr. Shoop's Night Cure—is a topical mucous membrane suppository remedy, while Dr. Shoop's Restorative reaches throughout the entire system, seeking the repair of all nerve, all tissue, and all blood elements.

The "Night Cure," as its name implies, does its work while you sleep. It soothes sore and inflamed mucous surfaces, heals local weaknesses and discharges, while the Restorative, essence nervous excitement, gives renewed vigor and ambition, builds up wasted tissues, bringing about renewed strength, vigor, and energy. high; then, fearing lest they might see the tears that came at last unhindered, he began to sing:

"Chante, rossignol, chante!
Toi qui a le coeur gai;
Tu as le coeur a rire
Mai j' l' ai-ta pleurer."

He sang long and lustily, keeping time to the dip of his flashing paddle and defying his bursting heart. After all, was he not a voyageur and life but a song and a tear and then a dream or two?

"I wish I might have known him better," sighed Meade Burrell as he

"I hope some time he will be happy," watched the receding form of the boatman.

"You would have loved him as we do," said Necia, "and you would have missed him as we will."

"I hope some time he will be happy."

"As happy as you, my soldier?"

"Yes, but that he can never be," said her husband, "for no man could love as I love you."

"Yours is a heart that laughs cheers. Mine is a heart that's full of tears."

Long have I loved; I love her yet. Leave her I can, but not forget."

came the voice of the singer far down the stream.

And thus Poleon of the great heart went away.

AFRICAN JUNGLE TRIP

Mrs. Hellmann's Experiences on Route Roosevelt Will Take.

ADVENTURE WITH ELEPHANTS

American Woman Traveler Tells of Being Chased by Large Herd—Greeted by Lions at Railway Station—Says Ex-President Has Little to Fear in Africa.

An American woman, Mrs. Frederic Hellmann, the wife of a mining engineer, has already taken the trip across Africa which ex-President Roosevelt will also follow. She not only experienced no ill effects from the journey, but enjoyed it thoroughly. She is the first American woman to have undertaken this trip.

Mrs. Hellmann made the journey from Mombasa across the East African protectorate and Uganda to Gondokoro in 1907-8 with her husband and two of his friends. They met with no mishaps in the jungle but once. Mrs. Hellmann was chased by a herd of wild elephants. She says there were 200 in the herd. She also had a slight attack of tropical fever, from which, however, she speedily recovered.

"Mr. Roosevelt and his party will be quite safe in Africa," Mrs. Hellmann said the other night. "Really there is very little danger if ordinary precautions are taken by the travelers. Wild animals of all kinds are dangerous if you come upon them unawares. For instance, if a hunter in tracking a buck in the tall grass, which is often fifteen feet high, a lion may be stalking the same game and becomes angry and turns on the hunter unexpectedly. In the opinion of all the big game hunters I met in East Africa the native buffalo is the most dangerous of the big game and the rhinoceros comes next. Lions will keep out of the way of hunters, as a rule, unless they are interfered with in their pursuit of game, but if wounded they will attack a man."

"This was really my second trip to East Africa. Four years ago I went as far as Lake Victoria on the railroad from Mombasa, accompanied by a woman companion. One night we were on the train going to Nairobi when the conductor knocked at the door of our compartment about 2 o'clock and asked us to close the windows, as the next station was reported to be full of lions. I have forgotten the name of the place, but it was not far from Voi. We closed the windows hurriedly, and when the train stopped we could hear the lions roaring so close it seemed as if they were outside the windows of the car. Two hunters came down from Nairobi next night and shot five lions in the station yard from the top of the water tank. This time we saw the tracks of lions, but did not see any of the animals."

"It was in the country between Numuli and Gondokoro that we had our adventure with the elephants. Our party had been warned by some of the government officials we met at Butaba, on Lake Albert, that there was a herd of from 200 to 300 female elephants and totos (little ones) on the road, and they advised us to give the herd the right of way on the road if we met it. They also advised us to carry torches made of long grass on the road from Numuli to Gondokoro to keep the elephants from trampling on us in the dark."

"The first day we left camp at 3 o'clock in the morning with lighted torches, and less than a mile away we espied a herd of elephants numbering. It seemed to me, fully 300. We could see the great cloud of dust they stirred up as they passed ahead of us."

"We lost sight of the herd in a short time, but while I was waiting under the shade of some trees for the rear guard of our little caravan to come up I heard a far off crackling sound and saw this great herd of elephants advancing rapidly toward us. With one look at the animals, I shouted to my companion and, grasping my short skirts firmly in my hand, ran down the path to meet the rest of our party. But the elephant herd turned aside."

"The mosquitoes are very bad on the trail from Entebbe to Gondokoro, and nothing will keep them out. You have to brush them off your hands, and they sooner or later inoculate you with the germ of the tropical fever, which is common in that part of Africa. All our party had it in turn. I was laid up for two days with a temperature of 103, and the next day I got up and walked twelve miles."

The most deadly disease in East Africa was the sleeping sickness, which had carried off 200,000 natives, Mrs. Hellmann said, from the shores of Lake Victoria in the last five years.

With regard to the daily marches through the jungle along the narrow paths, Mrs. Hellmann said that the early morning hours, from 6 to 8 o'clock, were delightful, but that after that the heat became unbearable. The marches from camp to camp were from twelve to twenty-two miles a day.

When questioned about camp equipment in East Africa Mrs. Hellmann said she had all the comforts of a home.—New York Times.

WILLIE WHITLA IS HOME AGAIN

Kidnapped Boy Restored to His Parents.

VILLAINS WON THEIR POINT

Distracted Father Gladly Complied
With Terms of Kidnappers, the Settlement Being Effectuated Through a Female Go-Between at Cleveland—Lad Was Then Sent to Hotel Where Father Was Stopping—Had Not Been Ill-Treated by His Captors and Was Well and Happy.

Harrisburg, Pa., March 23.—The legislature has adopted a concurrent resolution offering a reward of $15,000 for information leading to the arrest and conviction of the kidnappers of Willie Whitla.

Cleveland, O., March 23.—Little Willie Whitla, who has caused the police of the entire country endless worry since he was kidnapped from school in Sharon, Pa., last Thursday, was returned to his father at the Hollenden hotel here last night at 8:30 o'clock. In compliance with an agreement entered into between the kidnapped boy's father and an agent of the kidnappers here, the boy was placed on a street-car on the outskirts of the city and started to the hotel shortly after 8 o'clock. Two boys from the city recognized the lad on the car and, taking him in charge, conducted him to his father, who was in waiting according to a pre-arranged plan which he had followed at the dictation of the kidnappers. The boy wandered about the hotel lobby unannounced for several minutes, asking bellboys for his father, before the latter knew his son was in the big foyer. The moment the anxious parent heard that a strange boy was in the hotel sauntering in aimless fashion, he rushed across the lobby, grasped him in his arms and smothered his face with kisses.

Tried to Disguise Boy.
An attempt had been made to disguise the lad. He wore a pair of smoked glasses and a large tan cap which was pulled down over his eyes, and the father said it would have been difficult to have recognized the boy in such a garb had he passed him on the street.

Willie is in perfect health. He says that he has been well treated, and ever since his capture has been constantly indoors. He believes he was taken from Sharon to Warren and thence to New Castle, Pa. It is his opinion expressed in a happy schoolboy way that he was in Ashtabula on Saturday night at the time his father was to leave his $10,000 in Flatiron park.

Whitla senior gladly paid the ransom. He said that he received a letter from the kidnappers saying that if he called at a confectionery store in the east end of Cleveland he would be told how to secure his boy unharmed and "well fed." He went to a candy store carrying the $10,000, expecting that it would be demanded of him there. He was met by a woman, who detailed to him the terms of the kidnappers. With all the eagerness of a distracted parent, Whitla agreed to them immediately. Half an hour later he returned to the Hollenden hotel and awaited developments.

Declines to Name Woman.

In the meantime little Willie, the kidnapped boy, feeling comparatively safe in the hands of his kidnappers, for he was being treated kindly, and even at this time does not realize what terrible danger he was in, was being prepared for his return to his father. The woman at the candy store had done her duty. She communicated with the captors of the boy and told them that the father had made no attempt to trap them. The kidnappers were satisfied. But Whitla, senior, declines to name the woman in charge of the confectionery store and almost dares the police to locate her. So the boy was brought from his hiding place—where it was no one knows—to a car line in the east end of the city, which would bring him into town quickly. The kidnapper, according to Willie, was cheerful enough. The mysterious one and the youngster skipped in schoolboy fashion toward the trolley line, jesting in the meantime. Willie says the man told him that if anybody asked him who took him to the car line to tell him it was "Mr. Jones." "Mr. Jones" paid the boy's fare and then got off the car and disappeared after waving a friendly adieu.

At the hotel Willie told his story as best he could. It was not a lucid story in every way, but it was romantic from his childish lips. He could not remember every place he had been, but he gave an idea of his travels so that it will be possible for the police to cover a part of the trail made by the kidnappers.

"Papa," said the boy in a tone of childish prattle, "I have been buggy-riding, been on cars and in a nice big white house that looked like a hospital. I have been treated nice and had lots of good things to eat." Mr. Whitla and his son returned to Sharon on the first train out this morning.

ONCE A COWBOY.

Taft's Secretary of Interior a Son of the Western Plains.

From cow puncher in southwestern Kansas to the position of secretary of the interior is a far cry, but that is the range of the career of Richard A. Ballinger of the state of Washington, former commissioner of the general land office, ex-mayor of Seattle and until recently vice president of the Alaska-Yukon-Pacific exposition. A remarkable coincidence is that he succeeds James R. Garfield, his classmate in Williams college, who afterward made him general land commissioner.

The interesting phases of Mr. Ballinger's frontier career are being told in his own words. He said:

We were living at Verdun, Ill., and in 1873, when I was fifteen years of age, my father, who had served through the civil war, being mustered out as colonel in the Third Illinois regiment, took up a soldier's homestead near Larned, Kan., and, as that was then in the heart of the cattle country, I soon became a cowboy.

On one occasion it was necessary to take a ride of seventy-five miles alone across the plains to Larned, and I was compelled to pass the night on the Rattlesnake creek, which was properly named. Before I could go to sleep I had killed three rattlers.

My most memorable experience as rider on the plains came when a wild horse got the better of me. That was at Spring creek. I got the thong rope over the animal's head all right and managed to get him up to the snubbing post, where the horses are branded. Gradually I worked up to the untamed animal until I was within ten feet of it. With a motion as quick as lightning—so it seemed to me—the horse raised itself on its hind legs and struck me to the earth. When I came to the horse was gone and I needed medical attention.

While I was on the range I rode seventy miles every Sunday to recite Latin to the steward at Fort Larned, where several companies of soldiers were stationed. My ambition was to go to college as soon as I could, and I spent three years at the State University of Kansas and at Washburn college at Topeka.

Mr. Ballinger was deputy clerk and afterward deputy treasurer of Pawnee county, Kan., for two years.

While at Washburn, Mr. Ballinger met Senator John J. Ingalls, who advised him to take a course at Williams college, in Massachusetts. He did this and was graduated with the class of 1884, of which James R. Garfield was a member.

LINCOLN'S DOUBLE.

Daniel Walford's Strong Resemblance to the Martyred President.

Daniel Walford, who recently died at the home of his daughter in New York city, in his younger days bore a remarkable resemblance to Abraham Lincoln.

Mr. Walford, who was eighty-six years old, was born in Gloucestershire, England, and was six feet two and a half inches tall. He had the same slightly stooping shoulders and large frame, the same melancholy eyes and sad but winning smile that the martyred president had. His mouth was strikingly similar to Lincoln's.

Mr. Walford was an ardent supporter of the temperance cause all his life. Once in 1854 he was delivering a lecture in the Bowery mission, at New York, on this subject when some one informed him that "his brother" was in the back of the hall. This "brother" turned out to be Abraham Lincoln, who, being on a visit to New York, had gone to the mission with friends. When the two men met Lincoln said, "Walford, you couldn't look any more like me unless you were me."

They became fast friends, the friendship continuing until the president's death. President Lincoln gave Mr. Walford a model of his hand, which the latter carefully preserved.

CARROT TOPS NOT JOKES.

Red Headed Students Organize to Demonstrate Their Dignity.

Joshing folks simply because they happen to be crowned with red hair has ceased to be a joke. The seventy-five red headed students at the University of Minnesota have formed a society the object of which is to abolish all bantering about the color of their locks.

Under the general classification red headed are included persons with carrot, cherry or auburn colored hair. The college daily devotes a column to the new society.

It is pointed out that the red haired joke has been barred by age, and the society members swear they will have nothing to do with any one who springs it. A large carrot is suggested as the best badge of the club.

TO SEE ROOSEVELT OFF.

Hundred Pittsburgers Will Greet Him in Hoboken Just Before He Sails.

It has been arranged with Theodore Roosevelt that one of the last things he will do on March 23 before sailing to kill lions and things will be to shake hands with 100 representative Pittsburgers, who will leave Pittsburg on the evening of March 22 by special train and meet the ex-president at the Hoboken dock.

The matter was arranged by Secretary Knox, and it bids fair to be a unique farewell party.

While Mr. Roosevelt is quoted as urging that "the whole gang" be brought down, the Pittsburg party will be held to 100, so that Mr. Roosevelt may not be embarrassed or annoyed by numbers.

"Useful Instrument."

The "big stick" has been laid aside, but not forever, it is to be hoped. Proved a useful instrument in T. R.'s hands.—Jackson (Mich.) Citizen-Press.

ROOSEVELT NOW ON OCEAN WAVE

Lion Hunter Sails Today Claimed by Thousands.

A NOISY SCENE AT THE PIER

Amid the Din of Screaming Harbor

Whistles and the Shouts of Thousands Gathered at the Dock, the Roosevelt Party Sailed Away From New York on Long Trip to Africa—Head of the Party Mightily Pleased With the Reception Given Him.

New York, March 23.—Out on the "bosom of the ocean," as the writers have it, is Theodore Roosevelt with his party of lion hunters. They are abroad the Hamburg-American line steamer Hamburg, which cast off her lines from her Hoboken pier this morning and to the music of the whistles of numerous ferryboats, tugs and other vessels sailed down the bay with her distinguished passenger.

Accompanying Mr. Roosevelt—or Colonel Roosevelt, as some wise reporters addressed him on the pier this morning, winning thereby a smile—are his son, Kermit Roosevelt; Major Edgar A. Mearns, medical corps, U. S. A.

THEODORE ROOSEVELT.

retired; Edmund Heller and J. Alden Loring. The last named three men accompany Mr. Roosevelt as representatives of the Smithsonian institution, while the younger Roosevelt is official photographer of the expedition.

Crowd on the Pier.

The long pier to which the Hamburg was moored was jammed this morning with persons gathered to see the Roosevelt party sail. They made the pier ring with their cheers for the voyager from the time of his arrival from New York city until the Hamburg sailed. He was mightily pleased with the reception and showed his gratification by his smiles and the frequency with which he lifted his hat in response to greetings. To a request for a formal statement of his plans Mr. Roosevelt returned a smiling denial. "It has all been printed over and over again," he said, "and I have nothing to say."

Among the most enthusiastic of the cheering crowd when the Hamburg moved slowly away from her pier was a small boy, who had crowded to the very limit permitted by the authorities of the steamship line. His last cry, "Goodby, Teddy; take care of yourself!" brought a smile even to the face of the ex-president, who seemed then a little tired of smiling.

Two Fine Ships Carry Party.

The Hamburg is due at Naples on April 3. Mr. Roosevelt and his party will remain in the Italian city two days, sailing thence on the Admiral of the German East African line on April 5. The Hamburg is one of the finest vessels of the Hamburg-American line and is the favorite ship of the German emperor. The Admiral is her equal in all the comforts and conveniences needed for the hot trip through the Suez canal, down the Red sea and along the moist and sticky coast of East Africa. The Admiral is due at Mombasa, where the Roosevelt party will disembark, on April 22.

On his arrival at Mombasa Mr. Roosevelt and his party will go direct to the estate of Sir Alfred Pease, a member of the well known English Quaker family, which is situated at Kilima Theki, Kapiti plains. British East African protectorate, and remain there for three months during the heavy rains.

Will Visit American in Africa.

Afterward the Roosevelt party will go to Nairobi and pay a visit to the estate of Philip MacMillan, who is the head of an American company that has a concession of 100 square miles in the district. They will cross Lake Victoria early in December to enter Uganda when the dry season commences in order to do the thirty-seven days' march to Gondokoro in fine weather.

It is expected that the Roosevelt expedition will complete its trip through the dark continent in the spring of next year reaching Cairo about April 1, 1910.

OIL TRUST AGAIN FACES THE COURT

Suit In Dissolution of Trust Called Today.

St. Louis, March 23.—In the circuit court of the United States for the Eighth judicial circuit the suit of the federal government under the Sherman anti-trust law to dissolve the Standard Oil Company of New Jersey was called today. The judges who are hearing the arguments are Willis Van Devanter, William C. Hook, Walter H. Sanborn and Elmer B. Adams.

In the event of a disagreement among these jurists the case will be certified up to the supreme court. In any event the case will not be tried by the appellate division, as it has been arranged that in the event of a decision either way the case will be appealed direct to the supreme court.

This is the case which has already cost the government and the company about $5,000,000 and in which hearings have been held in many cities. The case was filed in St. Louis in December, 1906, and the taking of testimony began the following year. The government has presented 190 witnesses and the Standard Oil company 140. The complaint in the case names seven individual defendants, besides the Standard of New Jersey and sixty-nine alleged subsidiary oil companies.

The individual defendants named are John D. Rockefeller, William Rockefeller, H. H. Rogers, Henry M. Flager, John D. Archbold, Oliver H. Payne and Charles M. Pratt.

MINERS IN CONVENTION

To Strike or Not to Strike, That Is the Question at Scranton.

Scranton, Pa., March 23.—Unless the tri-district convention of anthracite miners which began in this city today adopts plans for making further efforts to obtain from the coal companies a new agreement to take the place of the one which expires March 31 a strike of the hard coal miners will probably result.

"Recognition of our union is one point upon which we shall stand fast," said President Thomas L. Lewis of the United Mine Workers. "Our other demands are reasonable and just and should be granted by the operators, but the matter upon which we are united and in entire harmony is recognition of our organization. The demand of the miners for recognition of the union imposes no hardship on the operators."

The present agreement between the miners and the operators was made in 1906, to run three years. The operators assert their willingness to renew the agreement, but declare that they cannot grant the present demands of the miners for shorter hours and higher wages without increasing the price of coal. This they declare themselves unwilling to do, in view of present industrial conditions. The operators have also come out for the "open shop."

THE PITTSBURG SCANDAL

Further Indictments Returned in Municipal Graft Cases.

Pittsburg, Pa., March 23.—Six more indictments, three for conspiracy, one for perjury and two for bribery, have been returned in the councilmanic graft cases. The men indicted are Dallas C. Byers, millionaire manufacturer, indicted jointly with Councilman John F. Klein, already twice convicted in the graft cases, and Councilman W. H. Weber, on a charge of conspiring to secure the passage of a street paving ordinance; F. A. Griffin, vice president of the Columbia National bank, charged with perjury in one of the recent graft trials; Councilman Charles Stewart, charged with soliciting a bribe of $2,500, and H. L. Bolger, hotel proprietor, charged with being an accomplice of John F. Klein in demanding and accepting a bribe for which Klein has already been convicted.

New Rules For Democrats.

Washington, March 23.—After hours of bitter wrangling the Democratic members of the house of representatives, by an overwhelming vote, repudiated the Democratic supporters of the Fitzgerald amendments to the rules which were adopted at the opening of the special session of congress over the opposition of Minority Leader Clark. A set of rules to govern future caucuses also were adopted.

Further Indiana local option elections are being held today in Benton Montgomery and Greene counties.

The Want Advertisements Are "Humanizing"

When more people come to use and answer Want and For Sale Advertisements, more people will know each other—

MORE PEOPLE WITH MUTUAL INTEREST WILL MEET—

more people will find channels and opportunities for reciprocal service. Truly, the Daily Republican Want Ads are "humanizing" people—shaming away the scorn of small things, the scorn of "bargaining," of exchanging useful but not used things for useful and usable ones.

Have You Read the Want Ads?

Here's Where the Fun Comes In

There is a standing joke that when county option wipes out all the saloons in Indiana, the drug stores will put in free lunch. One fellow thought this condition had come to pass in Rushville already when he glanced into the show window at the store of F. B. Johnson & Co. in Main street, and saw a plate of lunch there, containing a piece of pie, a doughnut and some small cookies. The idea was soon dissipated when he read two cards in the window. One was leaning against the lunch with the terse, but significant words, "The Cause." Then a stack of dyspepsia medicine boxes were found opposite with a card on them saying "The Cure."

It is to be deplored and it is a fact although the residents of Circleville deny it, that the little burg, adjoining Rushville on the south, commonly known as "cow town," where Alex Williams reigns supreme, is not on the map. An incident occurred recently that only impresses it more forcibly that it is not even recognized by the man, who makes the maps, with a small cross. Last week a relative of a resident of Circleville living in Indianapolis went to the terminal station for a ticket to Circleville.

"Why we have no such a town on any of the roads," said the clerk. "But I know you have," answered the city relative, "because I have a cousin living there."

And the ticket agent thinking that he might be mistaken inquired on what line it was. The man who positively knew that he was not mistaken replied that it was on the I. & C. The agent looked through the time table vigorously and even went to the trouble to examine the names of the various stops to be sure that he would not miss it. But the anxious relative who had looked forward for weeks to spending a day of rest out of the bustle of city life in the dear old country place was to suffer sad disappointment. The ticket man could not find it among the list of stops or stations. He looked at the man on the other side of the screen and wondered if he was insane because a strange light began to show on his face.

Slapping down a dollar on the marble he yelled, "Gimme me a ticket for Rushville, quick, I want to catch that car going out, that place is a 'suburb' of Rushville, I guess."
